CALL FOR PAPERS

4th Prof. Jan Winiński International Scientific Conference
"A CHANGING WORLD: CHALLENGES FOR ECONOMICS AND ECONOMIES"

May 28–29, 2026, University of Gdańsk, Faculty of Economics, Poland.

University of Gdańsk, University of Information Technology and Management in Rzeszów, European University Viadrina, and the Association of Polish Economists (TEP) invite submissions to a scientific conference themed "A Changing World: Challenges for Economics and Economies". This is the fourth conference (the second international), which aims to commemorate Prof. Jan Winiński and promote the exchange of ideas and research findings on societies' coping strategies and resilience with respect to economic shocks and transformation processes (in the broadest sense) and the mitigating role of institutions.

TOPICS FOR THE PAPER

Invited are contributions from all fields of economics as well as from interdisciplinary research collaborations between related fields of the following thematic blocks:

1. Global Macroeconomic Outlook & Policy Challenges

- "Global Economic Outlook: Growth, Stability and Risk"
- "Macroeconomic Policy in an Uncertain World"
- "Trade, Investment and the Evolving World Order"
- "Re-imagining Globalization: Regional Integration vs. Fragmentation"

2. Finance & Financial Systems in Transformation

- "Public Debt – toward locals and global catastrophe"
- "Sovereign Risk and Global Capital Flows"
- "Finance for Sustainable Development and Inclusive Prosperity"
- "Financial Stability in the Face of Emerging Technologies"

3. Economics of New Technologies

- "Digital Transformation of Money and Financial Services – Opportunities and Threats"
- "Innovation, Productivity and the Future of Work"
- "AI Economy – Cost and Productivity of Artificial Intelligence"

The organizers particularly encourage and welcome contributions from PhD students and postdocs at their early stages of careers.
